

LinkedIn Ads – Strategy, Campaigns and Optimization

This training teaches how to plan, implement, and optimize advertising campaigns in LinkedIn Ads within a B2B marketing context. It is designed for marketing and communication professionals who want to effectively generate leads, build brand visibility, and run employer branding activities.

During the training, you will learn about account structure, targeting principles, and campaign optimization mechanisms. After completing the course, you will be able to independently create campaigns, analyze their performance, and make data-driven optimization decisions.

Training recipients

- Performance marketing specialists
- Employees of advertising, PR, and marketing agencies
- Employer branding specialists
- Marketing professionals

Benefits

- You will set up LinkedIn Ads campaigns by building a proper account structure and aligning campaigns with business goals
- You will choose the right advertising objectives by matching campaign types to different stages of the marketing funnel
- You will apply advanced targeting by combining audience segments to achieve the right balance between reach and relevance

een scale and precision

- You will design effective creatives using the problem-insight-solution-CTA framework to improve conversion rates
- You will analyze campaign results by identifying key metrics and drawing insights for further optimization
- You will implement tracking and remarketing by configuring the Insight Tag and building audience lists
- You will optimize campaigns iteratively using the hypothesis-test-conclusion-iteration approach
